

Dear families,

Today, as many of you know, was super hero day here at school. We wore super hero costumes to honor Jacob Hall, a young boy who was killed in a school shooting in South Carolina last week. He loved super heroes. As a crew, today we talked about the situation and then honored Jacob by making a picture of him as a super hero and then making ourselves into super heroes for the rest of the day. I just wanted you to be aware of what we had talked about in class today.

Thank you for all of your support!

Chris Christoff
